DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 4, 10 and 16 are objected to because of the following informalities: The terminology, "the associated store" lacks proper antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shavit et al. '156.

Shavit et al. disclose or inherently teach all the limitations of the claims including an identifier (see specifically column 10, line 21) except the references lacks the specific teaching of the identifier preserving the anonymity of the supply chain participant, the identifier being a numeric string, the identifier indicating a region where the associated store is located, and the supply chain participants including restaurants.

It would have been an obvious design choice at the time of the invention for the identifier ("short code" described in column 10, line 21) to preserve the anonymity of the supply chain participant in order to provide extensive provisions for security (See, for example, Shavit et al., Col. 9, line 45).

Re claims 3, 9, and 15: It would have been a further obvious design choice at the time of the invention to have the identifier be a numeric string, as is well known and often used in computer security codes.

Re claims 4, 10, and 16: It would have been a further obvious design choice at the time of the invention to have the identifier indicate a region where the associated store is located, as is well known in identifiers, for example a zip code identifier.

Re claims 6, 12, and 18: It would have been a further obvious design choice at the time of the invention to have the supply chain participants include restaurants, as these businesses are well known to have the need to share information; for example in chain restaurants where advertising might be shared.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
